

EVERY HABIT AN ADVENTURE · EVERY GOAL A BOSS

The Quest Ledger

THE MARK OF THE GUILD · TEN LEVELS · FOUR VIRTUES

Write three small quests every morning, hunt bosses of your own naming, and bank every deed in an illuminated ledger of XP – four skill trees, ten levels, and a trophy hall wait for the proof.

The Rulebook

The Quest Ledger plays your real days as a tabletop campaign. Habits are daily quests, big goals are bosses, and every kept promise banks experience points – the ledger only ever counts what you actually did.

HOW THE GAME IS PLAYED

1. Name your adventurer on the character sheet – the four virtues are its stats.
2. Each morning, write three daily quests and one side quest on the day's page.
3. Tick what you keep and enter the points in the XP ledger the same night.
4. Break every big goal into four phases on a boss page mustered on the quest board.
5. When the ledger crosses a level line, shade the box, log it, and claim a reward.

EARNING XP

Daily quest kept – 10 XP

Boss phase cleared – 25 XP

Side quest done – 5 XP

Boss defeated – 100 XP

SPENDING XP · THE SKILL TREES

XP is also coin. Unlock a tier-one skill for 100 XP, tier two for 250, tier three for 500 – spent points stay on your lifetime total; the trees share one purse.

THE LEVEL TABLE

Level N falls when your lifetime total crosses $N \times 100$ XP – one hundred points a level, always.

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
100	200	300	400	500	600	700	800	900	1000

The Worked Example

One campaign, caught mid-stride – a training Tuesday scored to 35 XP, and the boss it serves: The Marathon, a first 42 km broken into four honest phases with two already struck through.

Everything on this bench is marked EXAMPLE. Your live campaign runs from Your Guild Hub.

HOW THE TABLE IS SET

The character sheet's chips open the four skill trees and the ledger; the quest board's roster rows are reference chips to the same boss pages the trophies celebrate. Daily pages chain morning into morning, and every page returns here.

THE DAY, IN THE MARGIN

The run felt like lead until the river bend, then the legs remembered the job. All three dailies and the side quest kept – a full clear banks 35, and the ledger says the streak is now four days. The 22:30 quest only survived because the kit quest made the morning automatic.

THE BIG GOAL

Run my first marathon this autumn – the city course, upright at the finish

FOUR PHASES · 25 XP EACH

PHASE I	25	Run 10 km without stopping
PHASE II	25	Finish a half marathon on tired legs
PHASE III	25	Complete the 30 km long run
PHASE IV	25	Honour the taper – two easy weeks, no hero workouts

VICTORY CONDITION · THE KILLING BLOW · 100 XP

Cross the finish line of the autumn city marathon, whatever the clock says. The killing blow lands with the medal – 100 XP the moment it does.

THE LOOT · CLAIMED WHEN THE BOSS FALLS

New trail shoes, and one whole Sunday of zero obligations.

Four phases at 25 and the killing blow at 100 – a felled boss banks 200 XP in all.

BATTLE NOTES

Phases one and two are inked – 50 XP banked so far against this boss. The 30 km long run is circled on the calendar for the last Sunday of the month; the taper will be the hardest phase to keep, which is why it is written down.

Your Guild Hub

A character sheet over four skill trees, 28 daily quest pages, a quest board mustering 12 bosses, two XP ledgers, the level log, and a trophy hall – every deed pre-priced and every page pre-linked.

This copy: 28 daily pages and 12 bosses. Set dailyCount (14-56) and bossCount (4-16) in the generator config.

DEEDS WORTH REMEMBERING

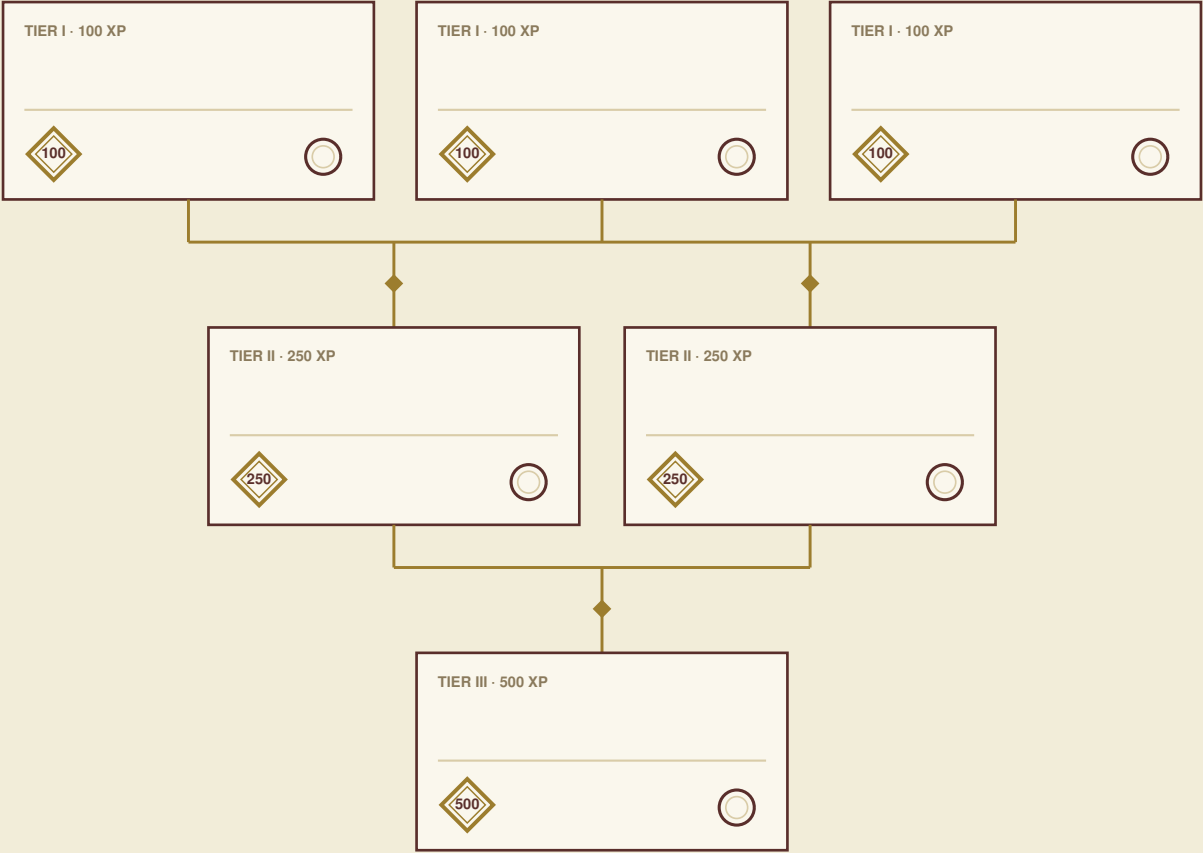

The Health Tree

The body's branch – sleep, food, and sweat. Root skills are the ones you could keep on your worst week.

TIER I · THE ROOTS

HOW UNLOCKS WORK

The skills are yours to invent – name each on its line. To unlock one, pay the diamond's price from XP already banked in the ledger, then ink the circle. Roots cost 100, the middle boughs 250, the crown 500.

MASTERY NOTES

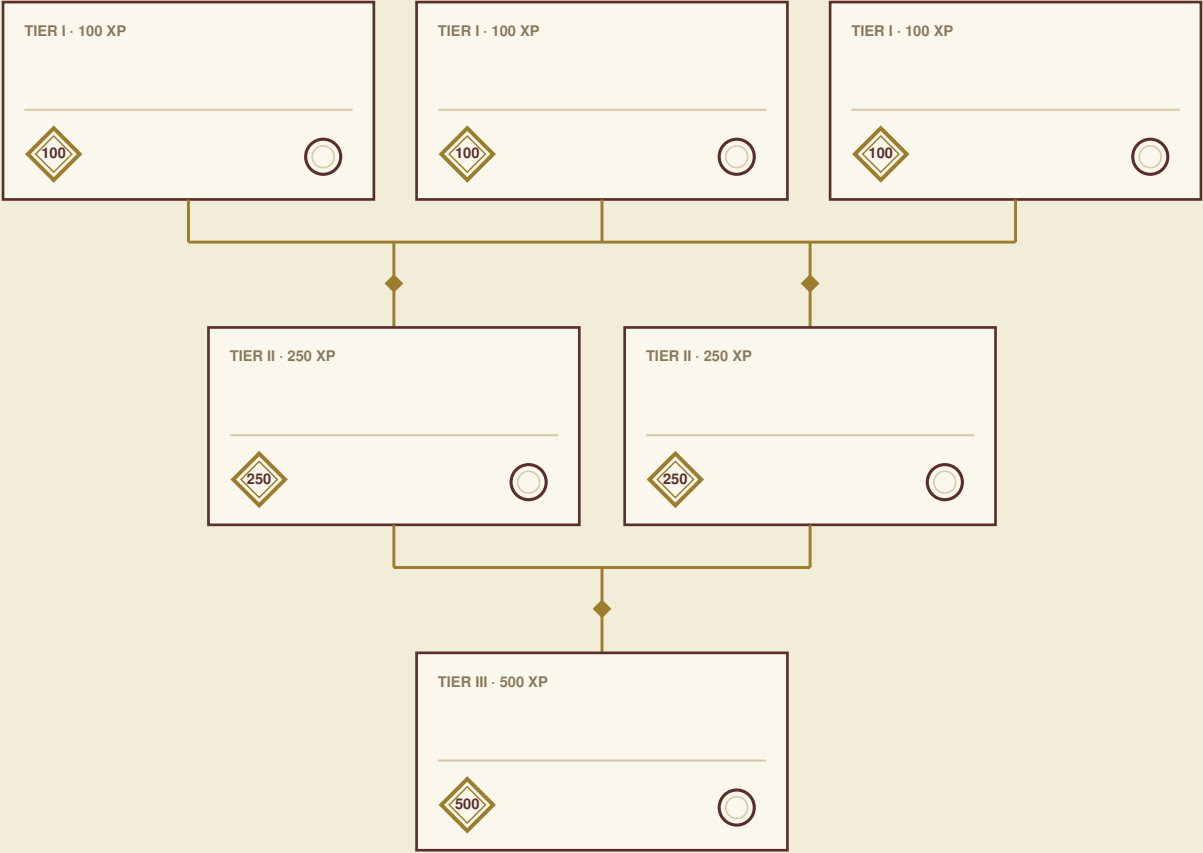

The Mind Tree

The head's branch – reading, learning, and quiet. Grow it on minutes a day, not heroic weekends.

TIER I · THE ROOTS

HOW UNLOCKS WORK

The skills are yours to invent – name each on its line. To unlock one, pay the diamond's price from XP already banked in the ledger, then ink the circle. Roots cost 100, the middle boughs 250, the crown 500.
