

A VOCABULARY LAB FOR ANY LANGUAGE

Lexicon Lab

Flashcard decks that flip themselves, grammar and drill sheets, a conversation journal, and a spaced review schedule – all pre-linked for whatever language you are learning.

Open the field guide »

Field Guide

Lexicon Lab is a vocabulary bench for any language you are learning. Every flashcard is two pages – a front you test yourself on and a back that teaches – and every deck is pre-linked, so cards flip and advance before you have written a single word.

HOW TO RUN A REVIEW

1. Open a deck and tap a card row – say the word before you flip.
2. Tap Reveal » to flip the card, and mark yourself honestly.
3. Tap Next card » to carry the run to the end of the deck.
4. Shade the deck's review boxes on Day 1, 3, 7, 14, and 30.
5. Catch live phrases in the conversation journal, then card them.

THE BENCHES

Spanish demo deck »The word lab »Grammar sheets »Pattern drills »Conversation journal »Progress wall »

The lab is language-agnostic: no template assumes a language. Only the demo deck speaks Spanish – your decks speak whatever you are learning.

A CARD IS TWO PAGES

Front: the word, big, over its pronunciation line. Back: the meaning, an example in use, and note lines for gender, plurals, and mnemonics. Reveal » and Next card » are already wired on every blank card – write the words and the deck runs itself.

Demo Bench

One finished deck, so you can feel the mechanic before you build your own: eight everyday Spanish words, each a two-page card that flips on a tap and runs to the next.

Everything on this bench is marked EXAMPLE – your own decks live in the word lab.

HOW THE WIRING WORKS

Every blank card front already flips to its own back, and every back already advances to the next card in its deck. Write a word on a front and its meaning on the back – the navigation was finished before you started.
